			A very cool day; high 39 degrees, however, was sunny and the berms blocked the wind. Excellent turnout.
			The theme was John Wayne Trivia. Chuckaroo finally had some competition when Punch kicked his butt with a clean sweep. Chuckaroo and Sunshine Marci both were clean. We collectively decided that Plug shooting Gunfighter was not going to give Walker Colt any nightmares. Sunshine Marci might if she ever decides to try it; she certainly womped the field. Gave everyone an OOPS chance (one stage shootover, shooters choice).
			The cold caused most of these on the first stage. Also, a rifle jam was handled by grounding it, finishing the stage, then a shootover. Good thing as we had lots of rifle malfunctions, especially when loading 45LC in a 38-40.
